ALERT: New Director of the US Citizenship and Immigration Services

Ur Mendoza Jaddou, a woman of Mexican and Iraqi decent and daughter of immigrants is confirmed as USCIS director.

On July 30th, the Secretary of Homeland Security, Alejandro N. Mayorkas, confirmed Ur Mendoza Jaddou as the new Director of United States Citizenship and Immigration Services. What can this mean for you? If you have not begun your immigration process or even if you have, this news can be to your advantage.

First, Ur is the daughter of immigrants, making her the ideal candidate for the job. In a statement, Mayorkas said, “As the daughter of hardworking immigrants, Ur understands how immigrant families enrich our country and the challenges they face.” Houston EB5 sees considerable potential in Ur to bring the USCIS back to the standards the industry expects and ultimately bring success to you and your family’s immigration journey.

Secondly, as the new director, Ms. Jaddou has expressed intent to correct the disappointing outcome of the past administration. One of those results is the unprecedented visa and green card backlog. Ms. Jaddou commented directly on this issue in her statement, saying, “My most immediate responsibilities if confirmed will be to return the agency to firm solvency.” Ur’s desire to bring about legitimate and lasting change is a light at the end of the backlog tunnel.
