Special Feature: Client Success Stories

Having frequently visited San Antonio, Santiago S. was familiar with the city's anticipated growth and future developments. Thompson San Antonio and The Arts Residences caught his attention. After considering the project viability and EB-5 Visa benefits, Santiago invested with Houston EB5. Another factor in his decision was our track record of successful EB-5 projects. While invested, Santiago has received professional attention from the Houston EB5 team including project news updates and personalized immigration process communications.

INDUSTRY NEWS

Forbes: USCIS Appeal Sparks Speculation About The EB-5 Foreign Investor Program

As the EB-5 Regional Center program remains in a state of limbo, Houston EB5 makes every effort to keep you informed of policy changes and industry happenings.

To that effect, we summarized a recent article by Forbes:

- The U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Service (USCIS) filed an appeal to the Behring Regional Center lawsuit
- The Behring decision had reduced the minimum EB-5 investment down to $500,000
- The appeal did not include a motion for a “stay” of the Behring decision, which implies the USCIS is still accepting petitions at the $500,000 level
- Due to the pause of Regional Center applications, the USCIS is likely to have more time available to process Direct Investment EB-5 applications and in turn, process them quicker.
